Winchester 1911 autoloading shotgun in 12 gauge. This is a takedown shotgun. Comes with prints of the original manual, cleaning guide, and sales brochure. These were made to compete with the Remington and Browning shotguns. John M. Browning had patented the bolt handle, so Winchester had to use the barrel to charge a shell. These are known as "Widowmakers" because it's easy to stick your head in front of the barrel when charging. As long as you keep the butt above your waist, you can't go wrong. I have replaced the recoil buffer and thoroughly cleaned the internals. 978-872-6716 Groveland, MA

AR-7 .22 LR Takedown rifle. This is the one that everything fits into the buttstock. Comes with prints of the original manual and parts sheet. It's made by Charter Arms in CT, which have bad reviews online for being unreliable. This one has been very reliable with supersonic ammo, and I've gotten it zeroed. I looked at a new Henry version, and I didn't like it because the barrel was polymer with a steel insert; this Charter Arms version has an all metal barrel. It has one magazine, and the stock is filled with styrofoam so I imagine it would float. 978-521-1068 Groveland, MA

Jungle Carbine Enfield SMLE. All correct in amazing condition with a great bore.303 british with a 10 round magazine. 1945 marked (F) No 5 MK I. well marked carbine. $800.00 OBRO 207-432-8427 Acton, ME

I have a GSG 522, one 25 round stick magazine and one 110 round drum magazine. It has a red dot sight that has 4 vertical dots and was designed for a crossbow. I have it because the bullet drop for a 22LR is visible over 100 yards. This red dot works good when you are out shooting. I have run several hundred rounds through this. The skeleton stock is great for kids as I can shorten it for them to shoot easier. My kids now like to shoot my long barreled ar15 better & they like long range shooting now. So it's time to find a new home for this gun so others can enjoy it. Trades? $500.00 Firm 207-242-3793 Augusta, ME
