Winchester 1911 autoloading shotgun in 12 gauge. This is a takedown shotgun. Comes with prints of the original manual, cleaning guide, and sales brochure. These were made to compete with the Remington and Browning shotguns. John M. Browning had patented the bolt handle, so Winchester had to use the barrel to charge a shell. These are known as "Widowmakers" because it's easy to stick your head in front of the barrel when charging. As long as you keep the butt above your waist, you can't go wrong. I have replaced the recoil buffer and thoroughly cleaned the internals. I can travel up north too. $225.00 978-872-6716 Groveland, MA
